

Dr. Josie Payoute

Motivational Speaker | Curator |
Visionary | Philanthropist | Coach

"Don't be ashamed of your story"

Bio:

Look into Josie's eyes and you will find a warrior with a servant's heart. Her happiness and confidence were not gifts that were earned but worked hard to achieve with resilience from pain and emotional breakups. It has not been easy however Josie was ready to step into her greatness as a Powerful, Connected and Trusted woman. Her perseverance and strength come from her God as well as her son who is a constant reminder of how this gift called life is precious.

Her purpose is to be a beacon for our youth, mothers, and womenpreneurs with a vision that needs to be stocked. Josie's mission to create opportunities for those who are ready to stop holding their visions hostage but not sure where and how to begin. She assist them in releasing doubt, fear and negative self-talk by embracing the gifts that God birthed them with that no one can take away.

With an illuminating soul and heart of gold, Josie creates community events, fashion shows, youth workshops, empowerment brunches, mentorships, conferences where all nationalities, creed, and color are invited to come together to inspire and influence positive world change. She encourages transparency, authenticity, and to never give up on your dreams without a fight

Testimony:

Smart, resourceful, powerful, funny, kind, knowledgeable, generous and insightful are the words that come to my mind when I think of my experience of working with Josie. She is hard working and takes risks to open up her exceptional creative mind making sure she delivers what the people need from her every single time. What a pleasure it has been to work along side Josie. Highly recommend! Sacha Kaluri

When you meet Josie for the first time - you're struck by her lovely Smile and then she envelops you in her warmth and confidence.

Professionally, Josie is the epitome of effortless organization. Every detail is finessed, she works to a timeframe, yet reads the room to allow for what's of interest.

Josie is a polished presenter who manages to weave humour and likability into each presentation.

She is skilled at drawing out what's special about those around her and allows space for her guests and audience to feel safe allowing for authentic interactions.

Josie is a force of intelligence, empathy and fearlessness!
